Repeated Coursework Restrictions on Title IV Aid

Per federal regulations, repeated coursework that falls under the following conditions cannot be included in a student's enrollment status for Title IV Federal Aid eligibility, including the Federal Pell Grant and Federal Direct Student Loans:

If a student passed a class once then gets aid for retaking the course a second time (pass or fail); they cannot aid a third time for that course.
(A course is considered passed if the student receives a grade of D- or better.)

If you repeat a previously passed course, note the following:

1. Repeated enrollment that is not aid eligible will be excluded from your enrollment status for the term and federal Title IV aid will be recalculated based on your adjusted enrollment.
2. This recalculation will be applied regardless of whether or not you received aid for the previous course.
3. Some courses are repeatable per university policy and are not restricted by these regulations. You will be notified if you are receiving Title IV aid and enrolled in non-repeatable coursework for a term.
4. Waitlisted courses do not count toward official enrollment status for financial aid purposes.

Example

A student, for the second time, is repeating a previously passed 3-credit-hour course. The student is enrolled in a total of 12 credit hours for the term. Per federal regulations, the repeated course must be excluded; therefore, only 9 of the student's 12 hours can be used to calculate his/her Title IV aid eligibility. The student's Federal Pell Grant will be reduced to reflect three-quarter-time instead of full-time enrollment.
